The Central Library had hosted an Awareness & Training Workshop on “How to write a book for any international publication and e – books & Online Resources”. The workshop was of two days duration (21st – 22nd July 2011) and was jointly organized by Central Library, MANIT, and Taylor & Francis Publication (an international publication of great repute).

We thank all faculty members, staff members and research scholars for their enthusiastic participation. We are also thankful to the staff of Central Library for their efforts in making this event a great success.

It may please be noted that more such workshops by premier international publications like Springer, Elsevier, Pearson, John Wiley, Cengage Learning, Oxford University Press and Cambridge University Press are planned in the coming months. We hope that the faculty and research scholars will attend these training sessions in good numbers and take benefit of an activity which is primarily meant for them.
